Local Artists To Entertain At Meeting

Two Hundred Expected to Attend Meeting of Valley Organization

Banquet to Be Served Next Tuesday at Woman's Clubhouse

Nearly two hundred of the leading business men of the San Gabriel Valley will be in attendance at the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley, to be held in the Sierra Madre Woman's Club, on Tuesday, January 7, at 6:30 p.m.

Sierra Madre artists will entertain the gathering, and Lee Shippey, famous columnist, will deliver the address of welcome, in his own inimitable style. The entertainment will include numbers by the famous Sierra Madre Quartet, James Heasley, tenor; Clarence Noshier, lead; Dave Buchanan, baritone; Jack Buchanan, bass. They will sing some of the old favorites and some of the new popular song hits. Miss Elizabeth Morgridge, one of the most talented young musicians of the Southland, will play several Spanish numbers on the violin, accompanied by Mrs. Morgridge at the piano. Don Parker, well known radio pianist, will play jazz, popular and classical numbers in his own interpretative fashion, and that means an unusual treat for the visitors.

The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Joseph Jasen of Pasadena, well known psychologist, who will lecture along psychological lines as affecting modern business. He is a forceful and entertaining speaker.

The dinner will be served at the Woman's Club under the direction of Mrs. Wm. Lees. The menu will be quite up to the usual standard which means complete satisfaction.

There are twenty-two cities in the Valley Chamber of Commerce and the meetings rotate. Consequently, each city is host once in every twenty-two months. The association is composed of forward-looking business men who have done, and are doing, great things for the development of the valley, and it has a very high rating among organizations in this fast-developing Southland.

Each city may be represented by as many as ten directors or members, and it is one association that has nothing in its programs that would be of special interest to the ladies; hence the ladies are restricted to attendance at one meeting only during the year, "Hi Jinks" night, in June. However, lady secretaries and directors of feminine persuasion are welcomed at the meetings.

On January 13, Dr. Frederick W. Roman will present Chester Rowell, regent of the University of California at Berkeley and former editor of the Fresno Republican, as speaker at the dinner forum. Mr. Rowell has just returned from attendance at the Pan-Pacific conference held in Tokyo.

Graeme Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith of West Central, left Thursday morning for Redlands University, after spending the holidays at the home of his parents.

Opera Reading Club To Present 'Faust' Saturday, Jan. 4th

The San Gabriel Valley Opera Reading Club will present, at its next meeting, January 4, in Monrovia, the well-known and ever-popular "Faust."

It will be the most elaborate presentation given this season. Five well known artists have been engaged for the leading roles. The opera readings are at 10 a. m., in the Colonial Theatre, Monrovia.

Harry Burton, who has been spending a few weeks at the home of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lovell, is leaving Saturday for his home in Salt Lake City. A group of friends were entertained at the Lovell home on New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bacon left Saturday morning by motor for San Luis Obispo, also visiting at Morro Beach. They returned Monday.

ADVERTISING IN NEWSPAPERS IS ON INCREASE

That California newspapers are preparing to serve advertisers more effectively during 1930 than ever before is one of the findings contained in a report of the study of newspaper and retail fields just issued by the journalism department of the University of Southern California. The survey was made under direction of Marc N. Goodnow, field representative.

"Realization that a large bulk of the consumer buying is done thru the daily and weekly newspapers has come to the merchants in recent months," the report states. "Results frequently have been such that not only will more merchants take advantage of this medium of selling merchandise, but in many instances advertising appropriations promise to be much larger."

'Buddy' Walsworth Compelled to Have Operation on Leg

LeRoy (Buddy) Walsworth, who suffered a compound fracture of his thigh bone several weeks ago, underwent an operation at the Pasadena Hospital Thursday morning to have the splintered bones re-set. All efforts to get them back into place by the use of weights had failed.

An attempt was made Monday of this week to set the leg without resorting to an operation, but the effort was in vain. The last time "Buddy" was under the anesthetic two and a half hours and he is showing the effects of his very painful and protracted experience. He has lost weight very rapidly and is said to be very nervous.

If all goes well this time he probably will be brought home in three or four days, according to his aunt, Mrs. House. He is very anxious to talk to "and see the kids," and is getting terribly homesick. His bed is literally covered with toys and other gifts for Christmas, sent by his host of friends and playmates.

Local Boys Victims Of Unkind Fate

Miss Reward for the Lost Hikers by Narrow Margin

Victor Hill, and Tom Allen of Corvallis, Oregon know how it feels to lose five hundred "smackers" by an unkind quirk of fate, and it wasn't their fault that they failed to get the reward offered for the three U.C.L.A. students whose wanderings in the mountains for several days caused so much excitement over the weekend.

Hill who knows the mountains and trails north of Sierra Madre probably as well as anyone round about, upon learning that the youngsters were supposed to be lost immediately took up the search with Allen as a companion. They went into the upper Bailey Canyon first expecting to find them there. Failing in this they continued up thru the brush to the fire break and thence by the toll road to its junction with the Mt. Wilson-Sierra Madre trail and the fire break on which the three students were to have gone to reach Orchard Camp. Here the two searchers followed down the fire break for some distance and out on the Winter Creek side calling into the canyon from several points. They received no answer.

As it was late afternoon and being without proper lights to search the slopes of Winter Creek they returned to the Half-way house intending to take up the search in the morning. However, by that time the "lost and found" department had put in enough overtime to put a different complexion on things, so they did what the Little Brown Bear did—"came down from the mountain."

The wanderers who were found by two Pasadenaans returned in surprisingly good spirits and with few marks from their harrowing experiences, indicating that they were very fortunate, indeed. And the two local boys may be pardoned if they mix a few sighs with the smoke from their tobacco.

High Reverly Ushers in the Present Year

Woman's Club Scene of Brilliant Social Event New Year's Eve

New Year's Eve was celebrated with a capacity crowd at the Woman's Club Tuesday night. Old Man 1929 made his official report of the year's events at the stroke of midnight. The part was played by W. R. Humphries who was master of ceremonies at the dance, which continued well into the new year. Music for the affair, which began at 9 o'clock, was furnished by Don Parker's orchestra.

Serpentine, paper hats, noise makers and balloon dances added much merriment to the frolic, which was staged in a setting of palm branches, pepper boughs and long colored streamers hanging from ceiling, chandeliers and stage.

Specialty dances featured E. F. Garrett, teacher of tap dancing at Swartout school of dancing in Pasadena, and Miss Gertrude Bandy of this city, as arranged by Mrs. Fred Griebenow and Miss Inez Black. A comic exhibition of a dancing lesson was given by Mrs. Miller and Craig McLaughlin.

Awards were given for special dances and cards and hot chicken was served at midnight by Mrs. Wm. Lees and Mrs. F. L. C. Roess. The elaborate decorations were arranged by Mrs. R. M. Finlayson, Dave and Jack Buchanan and Miss Sadie Sellers. Mrs. Ethel Davis was in charge of the bridge tables and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hutton and Mrs. Philip Senour comprised the committee on publicity.

Mrs. Robertson, president of the club, and her executive board received the congratulations of all present on the success of the evening's entertainment which ended in hearty good wishes for the new year.

Veterans Praise Christmas Boxes Of Woman's Club

"The nicest boxes that ever were sent to us by any organization" was the way the patients at the War Veterans' Hospital at Sawtelle characterized the annual remembrances from the Sierra Madre Woman's Club.

The boxes, containing gifts and money, were taken over a week ago Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Senour and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Roess. There were 37 boxes in all and they went to Ward No. 7, where they brought cheer well worth any sacrifice. The buying for the boxes was done by Mrs. Lees and Mrs. Roess, a huge task in itself.

co (to paraphrase Mr. Riley) while they contemplate the things they could have done with the five hundred "fish" if any member of the trio had been listening went they called down into the canyon depths.

AND ANOTHER GOOD RESOLUTION 'BY THE BOARDS'

It was 2 a. m. and the New Year's party had just broken up. The last guests were escorted to their car with "Happy New Year!" "Same to You!" "Good Night!" "Good Night." "Be Good!" and "You Bet!" ringing out on the early-morning atmosphere.

The driver stepped on the button; Henry gave a gratifying snort, roared up to high speed, the clutch was thrown in and—Wham! A blowout!

And it seems this must establish some sort of a record for making—and breaking—good resolutions on New Year's day.

Three Local Boys Caught In Law Mesh

Breaking Red Lanterns Not Proper Way to Usher Old Year Out

Misdirected enthusiasm in celebrating the passing of the old year last Tuesday night led three local youths into the clutches of the law. They were Fred and Julian Malone and Ralph Kinney. Someone reported by phone to the police station that a number of the red lanterns had been knocked down along the open ditch on Sierra Place where the city is installing new water mains. Officers Harlan Gerlach and Harry Peterson went to the scene, and seeing no one around, replaced the lanterns. In about five minutes they went down again and found the offense had been repeated.

This time the officers concealed themselves in an alley and turned the lights off their car. After a short wait, an automobile came slowly into view, hesitated a while to see if the coast was clear, and then was deliberately driven along the row of red lanterns, knocking over and breaking ten of these danger signals set there to protect motorists and pedestrians.

The officers jumped into their car and gave chase. The boys saw that they were being pursued and, turning off their lights, speeded up their car and attempted to escape. The officers, however, were able to overtake them and sired them to turn into the curb. They were placed under arrest and taken to the city hall where all were booked for trial and released on their own recognizance.

The trio appeared before Judge William R. Lasater Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time they admitted their guilt and were sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. Due to the fact, however, that their previous record was clear and that the court did not desire to work a financial hardship on the respectable families of the boys, Judge Lasater

Former Resident Of Kentucky Dies At His Home Here

James Henry Jones, formerly of Covington, Ky., but for some time past a resident of Sierra Madre, passed away December 29 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ralph Strickland, at the age of 62 years, six months, 25 days.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Christian Church of Cincinnati, Ohio, and was a loyal member of the church. Funeral services were held at Reynolds Mortuary, Pasadena, Thursday, Jan. 2, Rev. J. A. Scott of Sierra Madre officiating. A favorite sacred number was sung by Miss Roberta Scott, with Miss Martha Rihard, accompanying. Interment was in Oakdale Cemetery, Glendora.

Deceased is survived by Mrs. Strickland, and Pauline and Mildred Ramsey, granddaughters, of Covington, Ky.

THANKS NEWS FOR AID IN 'PUTTING OVER' ELECTION

The News publishers are grateful for the following communication from the Sierra Madre School Board, under date of Dec. 17: Sierra Madre News, City.

Gentlemen: The Board of Education of Sierra Madre desires in this way to express its appreciation of the splendid and unselfish work of your newspaper in helping to put over the school bond election.

The result of your efforts has lifted a great load of responsibility from our shoulders and we will, as speedily as possible, replace the old fire hazard building with a new and beautiful one of which we will all be proud.

Thanking you for your help and assistance, Sincerely, Board of Education; J. O. Smith, Ruth Klemme Bovard, Cecily A. Allen.

C. W. Forman Loans Two Chess Books To City Library

Mr. C. W. Forman has kindly loaned the library two books, Mitchell's Guide to the Game of Chess, and Lasker's Chess Strategy. These books are to be circulated and anyone interested in the game may have the use of them, according to Miss Lulu Moore, librarian.

A Sierra Madre Chess club was recently formed to meet each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Sedgman, 34 North Hermosa. A skilled player from the famous Pasadena Club is present at each meeting to give free instruction to anyone wishing to gain perfection in the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lauren Rhoades had as dinner guests on Christmas Eve, the Misses Hazel and Jean Woodward of Sierra Madre, and the Misses Della and Pearl Neagle of San Francisco. The latter are still house guests of the Rhoades but will leave soon for their home in the northern city.

Los Angeles City Library "Stocks Up"

Thirty Copies of "Personal Glimpses" Now Grace Shelves

The latest order for the Lee Shippey's fine book, "Personal Glimpses of Famous Folks" comes from the Los Angeles Public Library, which ordered twenty-nine copies, Wednesday.

Copies of the book will soon be found also in the county library and its branches, while copies have already found their way in to many of the city libraries in the metropolitan area.

So successful has the book been since making its belated appearance just before Christmas, the second edition is being rapidly exhausted. The downtown bookstores have ordered and re-ordered, many of them several times, but Mr. Shippey states that he was in error in not putting the book on the market at least two months earlier. Book stores, he learns, usually stock books intended for Christmas sale at least three months in advance, while many publishers sent their books as early as June first.

"Personal Glimpses" was not published primarily as a Christmas book, but the author realized the Christmas buyer, especially the buyer of books, who usually puts much care in the matter of selection, is the logical person to whom the appeal, and consequently Volume Two will make a much earlier appearance this year.

From a statistical viewpoint it will be interesting to know that the average edition of all the books published in this country, including the best sellers, is 1500 volumes, and the distribution of Mr. Shippey's book is already in excess of that amount.

The News still has several copies of the book for sale to Sierra Madre people, and the edition has also been placed on sale by other houses of the city.

Liquor Raids Bring Grief To Leggers

One Offender Resists Arrest As Officers Make Raid Sunday

Three $300 Fines Net City Treasury Tidy Sum of Cash

Figuring that everything would be rosy for him up here in them thar hills, one B. Rosa of Los Angeles established himself in the business of genteel bootlegging some months ago and in a short time boasted quite a fashionable clientele. His parking space at Canyon and Laurel was often observed to be cluttered up with beaucoup high-priced cars, and it was suspected that the owners of the cars were not coming up here to look at wistaria blossoms.

At any rate, to make a short story long, Chief of Police Gordon McMillan (at center), with Harlan Gerlach, Harry Peterson, Guy F. Scott and W. M. Wilkie in line positions, executed a very deft line buck last Sunday morning and when the play was over the "line" found itself sitting pretty, with Mr. Rosa decorating the premises among a dozen empty 25-gallon wine kegs and 65-gallons of wine, which as nearly everyone knows, put Mr. Rosa in a very bad spot.

On Tuesday he said something that passed for "Good morning, Judge," to Judge Lasater, and the judge retaliated with "Ninety days or $300." And, that being as far as the judge could go—and approximating a touchdown, a field-goal, a conversion and a safety, not to mention a touchdown or two, all in one offensive (it must have been very offensive to the defendant) the game ended with the city just 300 shekels to the Merry Christmas.

Not to play any favorites, the same quintet, executed a fake pass at 167 East Miramonte, at the Trail Inn, at 11 o'clock the same morning, and arrested Mr. and Mrs. Stoppel, owners, on charges of possession and sale. Although only a small amount of liquor was found on the premises, the guilt of the parties was pretty well established through the medium of the aforementioned fake pass. The chief has been taking some lessons from Coach Jones, apparently, and he fixed up a little bundle of the well known mazzuma, specially marked. A special officer took the lucky numbers along, and sure enough they proved adequate and a half pint of something or other was procured therewith. The line then did a fake reverse and the next morning Mr. Stoppel said just one $300-ward, "Guilty!" Mrs. Stoppel got more conversation for her money, saying "Not guilty." But at a trial in the afternoon the two-word plea brought the same response from his honor: "Three hundred dollars!"

The city officials are determined to wipe out bootlegging in Sierra Madre, and with limit fines in each instance of conviction it is probable such offenders will go to other fields of endeavor in their chosen profession, and as Sierra Madre is rather proud of its reputation as a "home" city, it is altogether likely that there will be little regret expressed over the policy being pursued by the judge and the police department.

Famous Missionary To Speak Tuesday At Bethany Chapel

Dr. Harry J. Farmer, who is said to easily qualify as the most able speaker on foreign missions in this country at present, will address the group at the monthly meeting of the Bethany Chapel Missionary Society next Tuesday. He will speak at two o'clock, his topic, "North Africa, or Barbary Coast Missions."

The morning session will include the business meeting, Mrs. John Lowe, president, in the chair, and a discussion of current events by Mrs. Carrie Thomas.

Luncheon will be served at noon, after which Mrs. Mary Campbell will lead devotions. All interested are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

The Modern Priscillas will meet at the home of Miss Edna Green, 66 East Laurel, Thursday afternoon, January 9.

Fire Flames

By One of the Boys

Our last meeting assured us that we have sufficient funds to overcome the expense of our annual Christmas event. The boys of the fire department extend their real honest-to-goodness thanks to all the people of Sierra Madre for their cooperation in this affair. Everyone accosted was so extremely fine that the boys feel greatly encouraged to continue with the custom in future years.

The practice last Friday included a "try-out" of the new pump that was purchased for the emergency truck. A very powerful little pump she is. A by-pass valve that is attached worked to perfection. This valve is for use when the nozzle at the end of the base is closed. George Cox being deeply interested, was bent over and observing with close scrutiny the workings of the pumps, when Thew at the nozzle suddenly took a notion (or perhaps a signal) to close the nozzle. Cox in direct line of the by-pass over-flow was dampened to the skin. Of course Joe Swanson notified Thew that the by-pass worked O.K.

Cox said, "Yes, I think I was worked."

Due to a severe cold, our old friend Louie missed this. He was detailed to other service for the evening.

Vern Udell seldom dances, but he finally did get up courage to try. He approached a sweet young lady that we all know and he said, "May I have the next dance with you?" "Sorry, but I'm engaged," she said. "Well, that's nothing," said Vern. "I'm married!"

For saying what he said was "Hot Dog!" Louie Karger was fined ten cents. Five other members agreed that he said: "er, well, something else."

Racing to a fire, Jim Heasley cut in ahead of a young lady's car and she stuck her pretty head out and yelled: "Hey, where's your chivalry?" He answered, "I turned it in on a Buick."

A policeman is oft detained while pursuing his duties. "Mac" was overcome by the charm of Frank Spencer's and George Cox's speech the other day and hesitated for a minute to listen to their lingo. An old lady carrying a large suit case approached slowly and "Mac" began to be suspicious. He watched her and she watched him, and as she neared Gordon she asked, "Do you drive the taxi? I want to go to the Canyon." "No," said Mac. "You will find Mr. Twycross around somewhere, probably in the barber shop. Shall I call him?"

Now since the lost hikers are found, we hear of many hunters who just missed them by a short distance or a short time. Among these heroes was our own Bob Babbitt. We saw Bob the morning after an all-day and night hunt. He surely looked the part. He was so tired that he failed to whistle thru his teeth.

Altho not many of the department have been able to visit the hospital (due to the time of the visiting hours) we are glad to learn from Roy Walsworth that his small boy "Buddy," is improving. "Buddy" was injured by an automobile some time ago.

The feed last week was prepared by Thom Schwartz and it possessed the usual nutriment. Regardless as to whom have prepared the feed, Captain Swanson is usually called upon to make the coffee.

We are sorry to report that Milt Steinberger has been ill for a few days. We hope to see him back at his post. The new Ford should revive him.

New Year's day is over and the usual resolutions have been made. No more smoking; no more this, that and those, etc.

Do you know that if we would all stop smoking, there would be a lot of cigar makers out of work. Down in Florida where a great many cigars are made, the factories have a regular man employed who sits on a platform and reads to the workers as they toil. He is called the "lector." We might imagine we like to read, but to read all day long wouldn't be so hot. He reads mostly light stuff, preferably sports.

Let's hope for rain.
FIRE'S OUT!

Hot Lead

Owing to the press of holiday business, and unusual demands upon my time, it has been impossible to get up a column this week. Wishing you the season's greetings, we will make up the deficit next week.

Wm. R. Lasater.

CHRISTMAS-BIRTHDAY DINNER PARTY

Mrs. Wm. Roe had as dinner guests Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fallon, Mr. Paul Meyers, Mr. Merrill Fitzjohn and Jack Murphy of Los Angeles; Mrs. Catherine Roe, R. B. Roe and Miss Agatha Tracy of Inglewood; Mrs. G. Harrington of Sierra Madre. Christmas Day was Mrs. Roe's birthday and a beautiful cake was set in the center of the beautifully decorated table. A lovely time was had by all.

NEW YEAR'S DAY GUESTS

Mrs. Wm. Roe had as guests New Year's day, Mrs. Cathern Roe, Miss Agatha Tracy and R. B. Roe of Inglewood. Later in the evening 500 was played and a most enjoyable evening is reported by those present.

FIRST MEETING OF NEW YEAR

The girls Reserve will hold their next meeting tonight, January 3. The meeting marks the beginning of a program for the new year and every girl is urged to be present. The time of the meeting is 8:30, at the Congregational Church.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Copenhaver entertained Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Copenhaver and wife and Mrs. D. L. Smith, all of El Centro, over Christmas. The visitors returned home Friday, after viewing the "Mile of Christmas Trees," the down-town decorations and other holiday sights.

BROWNING CIRCLE TO MEET SUNDAY

The Browning Reading Circle of Sierra Madre will meet next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Miss Ella Shepard Bush, 223 West Laurel Avenue. The occasion will be marked by an address on Browning's great poem "Paracelsus," to be given by Dr. Bertha Lovewell Dickinson, Ph.D., of Pasadena, a well-known scholar and interpreter of Browning's poetry. All who are interested are cordially invited to be present. After the lecture tea will be served by Miss Bush, assisted by Mrs. Battelle and others.

Henry Wood Berger, Jr., who is attending Pacific Military Academy at Culver City, is here over the holidays, visiting his mother at Bellevue Court. They visited the Salton Sea over the weekend and Henry brought down five nice ducks. He recently won a cross country race in his division at school.

Mrs. Ralph Solury entertained last evening at bridge, complimenting Mrs. Wm. Doty of Minneapolis who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. H. H. Steinberger. The decorations were in the holiday motif.

ENTERTAIN NOTABLE GUESTS

Sierra Madre again proved the mecca for notables when an interesting and famous group were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shippey on Auburn Avenue. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Momer Croy, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Derr Biggars and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carew.

Mr. Croy is the author of "They Had to See Paris," which has been filmed with Will Rogers, and the musical version has been prepared by Mr. Croy and is about to be released starring Chick Sales. He is finishing a novel in Hollywood, following which they will leave for a year in Paris, then plan to spend part of each year in Southern California.

Mr. Biggars, a resident of Pasadena, is well known for his mystery books, one of the latest being "Behind That Curtain," which has also been shown in film form. Mr. Carew, literary editor of the Pasadena Star News, and a resident of Sierra Madre, has reviewed books for both of these authors.

Mr. Shippey and Mr. Croy were room-mates in Paris during the war, and as Mr. Croy and Mr. Biggars were friends in Europe, while both authors and Mr. Carew were connected with newspapers in Boston, a happy reunion was held.

Mr. Shippey relates an interesting tale of Mr. Biggars, who, while serving as theatrical critic for a Boston paper, witnessed a showing of "The Prince of Pilsen," which had been revived, and realizing that a number of the new plays and songs had been stolen from his old favorite, wrote in satiric vein that the story and songs of this old play had been stolen from many of the newer plays. The editor, thinking that Mr. Biggars was sincere, fired him, stating they could not keep a critic who knew so little about plays. This forced Mr. Biggars into the new field and he wrote "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which was the beginning of his fame.

MR. AND MRS. ISAACS ENTERTAIN

A lovely dinner and dance was held on New Year's Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Isaacs, a color scheme of yellow and blue being used in decorations. A musical program was furnished by Raymond Townsend, Violinist; W. Dickson, pianist, and Miss Eugene Browne, contralto.

Other guests were Mrs. Alice M. Barker of Altadena, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Krebs of Monrovia, Miss Alice Krebs of Beverly Hills, Dr. L. L. Krebs of Sierra Madre and Miss Flora Wells of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

SIERRA MADRE ARTISTS APPEAR ON PROGRAM

A group of Sierra Madre artists appeared on the program presented at the lovely party given Saturday evening at the Pasadena home of Mme. Beatrice Bowman, formerly of grand opera in Boston. Among them were Oscar Rasbach, composer-pianist; Miss Orline Burrow, and Prof. Oscar Seiling.

Mme. Bowman sang Mr. Rasbach's "Overtones," accompanied by Mr. Rasbach at the piano. This composition, which is still in manuscript, was repeated by request.

Miss Burrow played Kreisler's arrangement of "Hymn to the Sun," (Rimsky Korsakov) and "Ballet Music" (Schubert-Kreisler) accompanied at the piano by Oscar Seiling.

Guests from Sierra Madre included Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rasbach, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Seiling, Miss Laura E. Cadmus and Miss Burrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Nicholson of Ontario, were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Robertson Sunday in celebration of Mr. Nicholson's birthday. Mr. Nicholson is a brother of Mrs. Robertson.

COMPLIMENT MRS. WM. WRIGHT

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. William Wright (Linda Schwartz) who are visiting in Sierra Madre, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Wood entertained a group of friends at dinner Friday, including Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. J. H. Wright, Miss Edith Ladd and Mr. and Mrs. Hall Perry.

Monday evening Mrs. Wood entertained the quartet of the choir of the First Congregational Church of Pasadena, of which Mrs. Wood is a member. Guests included their wives and husbands and a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wright are luncheon guests today at the Bixby Ranch in Long Beach.

Mrs. Frederick S. Ackley and son Bancroft drove to Santa Barbara Sunday and returned New Year's Eve.

Preston and Charlton Schwartz and Robert Karicoff left Wednesday night to spend a few days duck hunting in the Imperial Valley.

NEW YEAR'S DAY DINNER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Ashmore, on North Baldwin Avenue was the scene of a lovely New Year's Day dinner when their guests included Mr. and Mrs. George B. Morgridge and family, Mrs. Hortense Hill, Mrs. L. M. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Pence 439 E. Highland entertained Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Palmer and son, Donald, of Santa Ana, over the New Year's. Miss Rose Poos, a teacher of Yuma, Arizona, is also visiting the Pence's all this week.

George Cox has accepted a position as night-watch on the Dr. Barlow estate.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shakespear of New York City entertained Mr. and Mrs. Irving Ward at dinner and a theater party last Thursday evening.

Mr. Norman T. Olsen of San Francisco is spending a few days visiting his brother Henry in Sierra Madre and his sister, Mrs. Benjamin Medley at Glendale.

Lorne Pratt, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Waverly Pratt of West Grand View is recovering from a severe attack of "flu." He is driving a great deal of pleasure in the companionship of a cockerspaniel "Ginger" which Santa left him on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. R. Moote entertained their cousins, Mr. P. L. Gramah and daughter Miss Virginia Gramah of Chicago at dinner Friday night, December 27 at their home. Shortly after dinner the party went to see the Christmas tree drive in Pasadena.

DR. EVERETT ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Dr. Marie A. Everett of 153 Santa Anita Court had as dinner guests on Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bifield, Herbert Winter, Mrs. Harriet DeForrest, Mrs. Margaret Pile and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spreck, all of Los Angeles; Mr. James J. McLaughlin and R. W. Buck, local guests. In the evening the party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson of Monrovia, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Eklund and Mr. Harry Doyle of Pasadena. The latter two gentlemen are members of the Pasadena band and presided at the piano. The living room was converted into a dance hall and everybody danced. A chorus of the seven gentlemen guests sang many of the old time songs, with the ladies joining in the chorus. At the close of the festivities everybody pronounced it one of the most enjoyable Christmas days they had ever spent.

Some of the guests remained over night and Dr. Everett accompanied them to Los Angeles the following day. Dr. Everett and Mr. McLaughlin spent New Year's Day viewing the Rose parade and an auto ride on Roosevelt highway and ended the day and evening with a 6 o'clock turkey dinner with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Speck, and guests from San Francisco at View Park, Los Angeles.

Thayer Is Acclaimed In Boston

Rasbach's Songs Also Favorably Spoken of By Critic

Donald Thayer, famous American baritone, who recently returned, with his family, from New York to his home in this city, enjoyed a most successful concert season in the east just before the holidays. Several criticisms from New York papers have been published in the News and have proven most interesting to Sierra Madre people. The following criticisms of his Boston recital will be equally interesting: Under the heading "To the Manner Born," appeared Monday, Dec. 16, in the Boston Transcript:

"Sometimes in the general run of unheralded recitals at Jordan Hall, Sunday afternoons as well as week-day evenings, it is possible to sit back and listen to a really first-rate voice without having to think of the music teacher's jargon of 'voice production,' 'placing,' 'attack,' and so on. More often than otherwise the listener finds himself conceding 'musical aptitude' and 'good rhythm' but with little reason to feel that the musician of the hour has exhibited the first great essential of a singer's career—a good voice. The recital yesterday afternoon of Mr. Donald Thayer, admittedly an 'American baritone,' was an exception to the usual case. During the entire hour and a quarter or more that Mr. Thayer held the stage not even the most critical could find anything seriously at fault with his voice and many must have envied it. He produced loud tones and soft tones with equal ease. He reached notes fairly low in the scale without the slightest sign of discomfort and usually to a pleasantly rich musical effect. In most of his chosen songs, he found occasion to sustain the closing notes as if enjoying the facility with which he made this rounded stream issue from his lungs.

"The procedure which the singer demonstrated in the first two numbers of the program—Handel's 'Where E'er You Walk,' and the air, 'It Is Enough,' from Mendelssohn's oratorio, 'Elijah'—was exemplary. He sang these melodies in reverent attitude, with simple phrasing and open, effortless tones. Something in his poised dignity and vocal competence suggested the thought that conductors of Christmas and Easter oratorios will find in Mr. Thayer just the musician they need for solo parts. The impression was confirmed shortly in 'The Evening Star' excerpt from Wagner's 'Tannhauser,' which came up later in the program and which exemplified perhaps to an exaggerated degree the appearance of serene security with which the singer overcomes most vocal difficulties."

In the Musical Courier, under Boston date-line: "On December 15 Donald Thayer gave a song recital at Jordan Hall. The event, one of the most conspicuous of the young Boston season, called for an audience extraordinary in both size and nomenclature; and just such an audience greeted the famous baritone. Those (few) persons in the auditorium who had never before heard Mr. Thayer, were obviously impressed by his striking appearance and faultless stage presence; even a very muggy Boston day could not dampen the artist's native agreeableness and virile personality."

"The program opened with Handel's 'Where E'er You Walk.' It is surprising that Mr. Thayer, outstanding among baritones as an interpreter of the modern song, should be impeccable in his Handel; yet that impeccability is an indisputable fact, to which all who were fortunate enough to attend this recital will bear witness. Many of them, including the writer, wished that the artist had been more generous in the classical section of his program."

"In a group of songs by Erich Wolff Mr. Thayer demonstrated how far an American can go in mastering German diction; only the singer's chiselled Anglican physiognomy would have disillusioned a Teton who recognized in him a compatriot. The song 'Es ist alles wie ein wunderbarer Garten' was particularly well adapted to Mr. Thayer's unusual pianissimo quality—but of this more anon. If any minnesingers were in the audience they must have wept with envy at the American baritone's Song to the Evening Star from Tannhauser, in which the masterful diction was again apparent. These German numbers so affected the audience that Mr. Thayer was forced to follow them with three encores before intermission."

"Several songs by Oscar Rasbach, one of the most talented contemporary song writers, were sung with warm understanding and sympathy. They are compositions which call upon the artist for all his interpretative powers, and here Mr. Thayer was not found wanting. A little gem called Gifts, dedicated to the singer, contains a splendid poem, of which, thanks to the artist's acute enunciation, no one needed to have missed a word. As encore to this group came another Rasbach song written to Joyce Kilmer's Trees."

"As for the general aspects of Mr. Thayer's vocal ability, critics have left very little unsaid. It is enough here to remark that his glorious higher register thrills the hearer as only a great singer can thrill him; and that the incomparable sweetness of his pianissimo is of a species only too rarely found in baritones who can at the same time command strength and unforced volume."

"As usual, the artist left his audience thirsting for more. Not that he is uncommonly stingy with encores, but merely that one cannot get too much of a good baritone. Mr. Thayer may feel certain that he has added a great many admirers to an already interminable list.—W. L. G."

Buick Motor Co. Again Dominates 6-Cylinder Field

That the Buick Motor Company is now selling 42 percent of all cars in Buick's price class is the statement made by C. W. Churchill, general sales manager, following a study of reports for the three months ending October 31st.

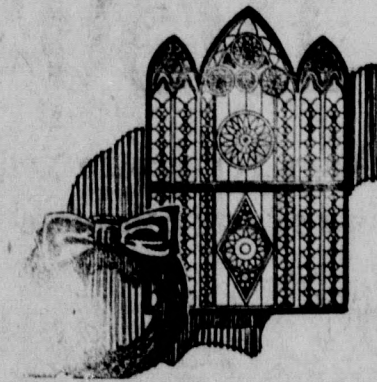

The price class in which Buick cars are listed embraces 14 other makes of automobiles, any one of which the Buick Motor Company is now outselling by a margin of at least two to one.

"It is extremely gratifying to learn from the most recent reports that public acceptance of the 1930 Buick line of automobiles has not only maintained Buick's position of leadership in the fine car field, but has increased its sales percentage to 42 percent of the entire price class," says Mr. Churchill.

Mr. Churchill attributes the increase in Buick's sales percentage to the unusual popularity of the 1930 models, which has brought into the Buick column many purchasers who have heretofore owned and driven other makes, and to the loyalty of those who have been Buick owners.

In this connection another startling statement of fact was included in Mr. Churchill's public announcement—the fact that Buick sells, each year, more than half of its output to old Buick owners, which constitutes a record of owner loyalty unparalleled in the entire automobile industry.

Health School Shows Value of Handicraft

Eight Weeks Course Given Each Year in Sierra Madre

A Handicraft class at Sierra Madre summer Health School where learning the health game and fun went hand in hand. Each summer a selected group of physically below par children are given an eight weeks course of intensive health training under the joint auspices of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the County Health Department. Through actual demonstration of the practice of health habits through play and the value of well-balanced meals of adequate quality and quantity, rest and a happy attitude toward healthful living, the Summer Health School in Sierra Madre served as a model school for the youngsters. During last July and August sixteen summer health schools were conducted in various districts in Los Angeles County. A Summer Health School in Sierra Madre next year depends largely on the quota of funds received from the 1929 Christmas Seal sale.

Prevention of tuberculosis through building up resistance against disease in childhood is cheaper than cure. A Summer Health School in Sierra Madre has been a great asset to this community and it is hoped that the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association receives the full support of every resident of Sierra Madre that a continued program of health work may be assured here.

Checks for Christmas Seals should be sent to the headquarters of the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association, 132 West First Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Truck-load of Football Paraphernalia Taken to Hawaii

When the Santa Clara Football Team sailed in December on the S. S. Maui for Honolulu, they found the Maui equipped with football paraphernalia which would permit them to train aboard ship. As far as is known this is the first time in history that a football team has ever trained aboard ship.

Santa Clara who defeated Stanford 13 to 6, and who held the St. Mary's Gaels to a 6 to 0 score, is undoubtedly one of the strongest teams on the Pacific Coast.

Their opponents in Honolulu, the University of Hawaii, likewise has a strong team.

The equipment placed on board the Maui comprises a tackling dummy, a bucking machine, and gymnasium mats. The innovation created considerable attention from the movie people, who "shot" many scenes at the Matson Navigation Company docks and also while the ship was under way outside the Golden Gate.

The growing importance of football in the Hawaiian Islands and the calibre of team that is turned out there is indicated by the fact that Oregon University had a strenuous time in defeating the Hawaiian eleven in a game played at Portland recently.

A special Chevrolet truck was sent to Santa Clara and the equipment then transported to the Maui. The bucking machine took up practically three-fourths of the space in the truck and it was rather a unique sight to see the bucking machine on the truck. The Chevrolet truck also transported trunks and football uniforms for the Santa Clara eleven.

One of the students of Santa Clara drove the truck to San Francisco and declared that it rode as easy and was as fast as a passenger car.

Mission Play To be Studied By Visitors

Dramatic Critics from Europe To Be Here in 1930

Sharing a place in the spotlight of the Olympic games to be held here in 1932, California's widely famed Mission Play by John Steven McGroarty will be studied and criticized by European dramatic critics who will gather here for the event.

Few, perhaps, know that coupled with the athletic events of the Games is the presentation of the finest efforts of dramatics, musicians and other writers in accordance with the customs inaugurated by the Greeks as a part of the original Olympics. Los Angeles in 1932 will become a mecca for critics of drama, music and literature who will study displays of the fine arts as carefully as the general public will follow the sport events.

The belief that the Mission Play will receive a large share of the attention of the art critics is expressed by the president of the Mission Playhouse Association, W. I. Hollingsworth, who says that for the past two years both traveling and resident foreign correspondents in Los Angeles have called attention to the production in their dispatches to foreign centers.

Foreign interests in the Play centers not only upon its long run but also the fact that it is the only drama of the state's history and furnishes a realistic view of early life in the West. The production embarked on its nineteenth season on January 1st at San Gabriel opening with a matinee and evening performance on New Years Day.

LOYALTY BEGINS AT HOME

"SAY," said a Sierra Madre man the other day, to a News representative, "some day that 'loyalty' stuff you talk so much about in your paper is going to bounce right back at you and hit you smack in the eye." And then he went on to say that a goodly part of the money spent in this town is drawn from Los Angeles in the form of salary checks, and that "loyalty" as such is due the Los Angeles merchant rather than the local business man.

Well, perhaps that is one way of looking at it, but it is faulty logic. If a Los Angeles business man secures a job in Sierra Madre it may be supposed that he is worthy of his hire, and having received his check is entitled to spend it where he wishes. And if he is loyal he will spend it, not where he earns it—for, having given value received for it, he owes no debt—but to the community that gives him something in return for the money he spends and which is helping to build up an independent community.

In the early days, man lived for himself alone. He didn't even worry about a family, for the aborigine knew little and cared less about how families "happened." Later, he learned that he had something to do with the birth of children and that led to a family circle, and with a family circle to take care of, it dawned on him that by associating himself with other family circles he could better protect his own fire-side. The growth of that very good idea gave rise to present-day methods of associating ourselves together and developing schools, water and sewerage systems, etc. If an individual now would revert to primitive type, he would have no public buildings, no libraries, no public utilities, no paved streets, or roads—if fact, he would have little more than he could conveniently move in a knapsack in case some bigger individual came along and told him to move on.

And so, to make a long story as short as may be, it seems logical that no matter where a man "makes" his money, he is in duty bound to spend it in the community that gives him police protection, public schools, public library, water, and other general necessities at a cost extremely low in proportion to the value received.

And in using the word "loyalty" it is not intended to imply that it is a duty to buy at home regardless of cost. Not a merchant in this city—or in any similar small town—is trying to get more for his goods than the traffic warrants; that is, if he is smart—and he has to be that to survive smart competition nowadays. And it is quite possible that thousands of dollars are needlessly taken out of town each year because certain types of people prefer to shop in the big centers, "where the range of selection is greater," but where they eventually purchase identically the same things they could get in their own home town, for merchandise is pretty well standardized now, due to the prevalence of national advertising.

True the down-town merchant does a greater volume of business than the local merchant; therefore his chance to sell at a lower price. And on the other hand his overhead is greater, so he has to get more money for his goods. A news story in a city paper the other day mentioned a sum way up in the millions as the amount taken from the big stores by shoplifters every year. Does the merchant lose that money? Hardly! The customer absorbs that loss, as well as every other loss that occurs in the big department store.

But this wasn't intended to be an argument in favor of buying at home from a cost standpoint, but as a matter of simple loyalty to the business men who bear the bulk of the taxes that keep the schools, the library and the city government running. And in the final analysis "loyalty" means, primarily, "try your home town merchant first." If he can't give you equal satisfaction with the downtown dealer, he will cheerfully surrender all claim on your "loyalty."

BETTER HEALTH FOR 1930

THE turning over of new leaves is the accompaniment of the bells that chime in a New Year of opportunity and promise, but unfortunately few of them last beyond the middle of the first month.

This is partially so because the resolutions are often vague and general. We pledge ourselves to lead a better life, or to be less selfish, or to be more considerate, but the steps by which we plan to achieve these ends are hardly definite in our minds. What we need is simple resolutions whose progress we can watch and measure.

Such a resolution might well be, for each of us individually and as a nation, to have a greater participation in health movements. This gives us definite tasks and definite responsibilities and will show definite results.

First of all we can live healthily, observing the simple rules of good food, regular hours, clean bodies and surroundings. In this connection may one observe that in fattening turkeys for Christmas, the turkey-raisers have health science down to such a fine point that there is a very small percentage of loss among these birds that were formerly considered hard to raise. Prize pigs are fed scientifically and respond wonderfully to such treatment. An ailing pet is taken to a pet hospital and chances are it can be put on a diet that will make it well. But human beings aren't so important as prize and pet livestock, apparently.

Second, we can support financially and otherwise the public and private movements that are working for better personal and community health. Such organizations are now doing much good, but their efficiency would increase greatly if they could get 100 per cent co-operation from the public. They advocate, for instance, washing the hands with soap and water before each meal. If that were made a law and enforced it would save thousands of lives a year, yet the suggestion, so far as the public is concerned, "is meant for the other fellow."

And now, getting back to New Year's resolutions, make them definite, practical—and keep them.

The offer of a $10,000 reward for a material which could be used instead of ivory for billiard balls resulted in the development of pyroxylin plastics which, through constant improvement, now serve for the making of toilet sets, dress ornaments, shoe buckles, shoe horns and a host of other things. Non-shatterable glass, which has added so much to safety in automobiles, consists of two sheets of glass and a layer of pyroxylin sheeting between them. Spectacle frames, which afford comfort and protect lenses from breaking, can also trace their ancestry to a material originally intended to supplant elephant tusks in making the lively balls for the game of billiards.

TWO BILLIONS FOR PROGRESS

THE confidence felt by public utility executives in the immediate industrial future of America is shown by the fact that gas, electric and street railway companies contemplate spending almost $2,000,000,000 during 1930 for new construction and expansion of facilities, and for improvement of existing properties. This will exceed the 1929 budget by more than $100,000,000.

This gigantic expenditure, according to public utility representatives who laid information before President Hoover, will not only be sufficient to keep utility employment at a high level, but will provide enormous orders to be filled by the many thousands of employees in related industries. None of the utility companies plan, or have even considered, wage reductions and in a number of instances first-of-the-year increases for employees will be forthcoming.

The public utilities are probably the best existing barometer of American progress and prosperity. Their successful operation is dependent upon the conditions within the thousands of factories and homes which consume gas and power. They would be the first to feel a serious business depression, and the first to retrench. And the fact that their plans for the coming year will make it the greatest period of progress in their history should be sufficient answer to those who have prophesied a gloomy future for the wage-earners and producers of the nation.

The Great American Divide, says the geography books, is out West. At Reno, no doubt.—Virginian-Pilot.

Reservations

By J. R. E.

Now that it's all over, we do hope that Harry Carr won't use up any space in telling "Jock" Sutherland how he could have won the game.

And what a fast one Jones pulled on Grantland Rice and the other un-wise men from the East. Howard picked the All-American team early in the fall—with fifteen or twenty men on it—all registered at U.S.C.

Just imagine Rice's embarrassment as he watched his four Pitt Horsemen trying to get somewhere important Wednesday.

Alas, Poor Alex! He feels unwell in jail. Perhaps Mr. Keyes could be induced to loan him that chaise longue that figured so prominently in the news stories.

And there's Poor Old Ace, too! Imagine his embarrassment in having tied up with a few piffing grafters, and then along come the two Pantages cases—and Ace "on ice."

And then there is Poor Old Mr. Richardson. While he was governor he didn't have power enough to put a "known" murderer "on the pan." If that's all the power the governor has, what difference does it make who holds the office?

Mister Young had better hope for lots of candidates in the next primary. If he and Buron Fitts tangle, alone, there will undoubtedly be a new governor in the state "white-house" next term. Buron Fitts has done the unusual in California—occupying a high position, he went to work and accomplished things instead of trying to play politics. And in so doing played the finest sort of politics. The people of this commonwealth know and appreciate the value of a real man in office and it will be only a matter of time until the present district attorney is called to a higher job.

Long comes a scientist and says he can prove that man did not descend from apes and monkeys. And one may be permitted to believe that the long sigh of relief recently heard, emanated from the apes and monkeys who heard the glad tidings.

There are now 27,000,000 automobiles in the United States. It's a good thing some of the fools who own a half dozen can drive only one at a time.

Another rather strong smell emanates from Los Angeles in the demotion of Chief of Police Davis. Either Davis was "guilty as charged in the complaint" and should have been summarily dismissed, or he was "not guilty" and should have been permitted to retain his high office. The result of the long "investigation" leaves an odor, and the odor is far from sweet.

"Stock Market Revival Scheduled in Autumn"—Headline. Wall Street gives the sucker credit for having a very short memory.

"Traffic Deaths Set Mark."—Headline. And in all probability most of the drivers of "death" cars are still moving around with their hands on the steering wheel.

A Chicago dispatch says a sanguinary war among racketeers will start as soon as Al Capone is let out of jail. In that event, it is to be hoped the old boy was given his freedom as a New Year present. The sooner the "war" starts, and the bloodier it gets, the better off we'll be.

Of course we can't expect prohibition to become effective until the good people are as determined to stop the sale, as the ruff-necks are to sell it.

Another move in the right direction would be for congress to vote medals to the guardsmen who "bagged" three rum runners off Newport, R. I., instead of their being cited to appear for "investigation."

We trust, in case there happens to "happen" an epidemic of "lost" parties in the mountains following the recent harrowing newspaper yarns, there will also be an epidemic of that well known and once highly esteemed habit of visiting the woodshed with papa. You remember, when "Dad" used to remark, sorta casually as he brushed the dust (if any) off the shingle: "Now, this is going to hurt me worse than it does you."

And the unfortunate part of it was, that "Dad" usually told the truth about the mater.

J. D. Martin of Richmond, Va., is the proud possessor of a check for $200.00 paid him for an old copper cent. The Numismatic Company, Dept. 654, Fort Worth, Texas, who purchased this penny from Mr. Martin, says there are numerous old coins, bills and stamps in circulation for which they will gladly pay big cash premiums. So that you will know the value of old coins and stamps and what to watch for in your change, the Numismatic Company will send for only 4c to any reader of this paper who writes them, a large illustrated coin folder describing some of these wanted articles and the big profits to be made. Better write them today for this large folder so you can post yourself and know what to look for. Remembering that Mr. Martin's knowing the value of his penny meant a difference of $199.99 to him. Without knowing its value that penny might still be in circulation, passing through the hands of thousands until someone like Mr. Martin, who knows old coins, recognized its value. It pays to be posted. Send 4c now for the illustrated coin folder. You have nothing to lose, everything to gain.—(Adv.)

Anita's Answers

Anita will answer questions about house furnishings, including arrangement of rooms and color schemes. Address "Anita," Sierra Madre News.

Dear Anita:

We are going to rent an unfurnished stucco bungalow of modified Italian type. The interior walls are plain cream colored stucco. We cannot afford to buy the kind of furniture we are afraid an ordinary interior decorator or dealer would recommend. Can you give us an idea of how we could furnish the place at moderate expense and yet attractively? We already have an upholstered sofa with springs, and two upholstered chairs, that need to be covered.

—G. G. D.

G. G. D.—Your question can be answered in one or two ways. Either buy the simple kind of Italian furniture, which of course would be the ideal furnishing for your house; or, if this seems to necessitate too great an outlay of money, you could simply create a fashion of your own.

I would go to the places where they sell unpainted furniture, and make a very careful selection. Have it stained as nearly as possible the silver brown that one sees in the old Italian furniture.

The dining room table should be oblong, suggesting the refectory tables of the Italian monasteries; the chairs rather high backed and possibly with arms. Two tables smaller and higher than the dining room table should be placed against the wall as serving tables or places on which to put pieces of silver, such as candelabra, cake baskets, or a dish of any kind. One of these tables should be equipped with drawers in which the silver can be kept.

Color, can be introduced into this room by hangings both at the doors and the windows, and by the rug. Choose some unfaded material of a rather stately fabric, such as Italian red velvet or velour, for the hangings; and for the floor a plain rug of the same color. Have flat cushions on the chairs, made of the same material as the curtains.

If your dining room happens to possess a bay window, you can make a very pretty picture by hanging a small Italian fountain set among a few plants and from the ceiling two or three cages with birds in them, hanging among the plants.

Your problem for the living room is partly solved by your possessing the upholstered sofa and chairs. These I would have covered in green velvet, or velour. The green on the Italian flag would be a little too brilliant to live with, but you could have something between an apple green and a sage. I would get a library table, a suitable desk,—almost anything not of the colonial type,—and one or two small chairs. These small chairs I would have cushioned with the same material as that of the covering for the upholstered furniture.

Have several small oriental rugs of which the principal tone is that of the stained furniture, and if it is possible, a bit of green. For the curtains I would get some soft silk with a sheen to it like liberty silk. Being so soft, each side of the window could take two widths hung side by side. One of these should be green to match your upholstered furniture, the other brown as nearly as possible matching the earth color in the rugs.

One strong contrasting note of color is needed somewhere in the room, and I leave it to your taste as to whether it is a brilliant bunch of flowers or a cushion of some plain brilliant silk.

The bedrooms are not difficult problems. I would have them very gay. If you can find the colors you desire in furniture, it will make less work; otherwise resort again to your unpainted furniture shop. It would be very pretty to have one set orange and the other bright French blue. Soften the brilliance of your furniture by having white dimity curtains held back by colored bands, white bedspreads, and some somber tones in your rugs—rag rugs or the like.

I think you will find your little house very livable, with its contrasts of bright colors and somber shades.—ANITA.

Fine Year Book Is Distributed by Andrews & Hawks

Andrews and Hawks, well known real estate and insurance dealers, have received many compliments from local business men for the handsome year book distributed Tuesday, by the firm. The book, compiled by the Globe Indemnity Co., of which Mr. Andrews and Mr. Hawks are local agents, is a complete diary, with date, weather blank, and day of the year, together with space for special data and accounts, at the back.

The book is handsomely bound and will be among the most useful objects to be found on the average desk.

The firm members are among the earliest and best known residents of the city and they have established a splendid reputation for integrity, courtesy and service.

Local Eteri Club Again Wins Honor For Big Attendance

For the third successive time the local Eteri Club won the award for having the largest percentage of members present at the annual mid-winter conference of all the Eteri clubs. The conference was held at the Bible Institute in Los Angeles, Saturday and Sunday, December 28 and 29.

The program was an unusually fine one and included many well-known speakers of which Miss Grace Saxe, a nationally known Bible teacher was perhaps the finest.

Saturday afternoon was devoted to skits put on by all the clubs and in the evening a banquet was held. The rest of the time was devoted to meetings and recreation.

Those present from Sierra Madre were: Kathryn Karicofe, Bobbie and Greva Scott, Janet and Enid Murray, Dorothea Cox, Doris Bayard, Persio Krienbring, Frances Lacey, Jessie Leffering, and Dorothy and Margaret Moote. Those who attended only part time were: Louise Smith, Virginia Roess, Mabel Sutherland, Marguerite Lalone, Mary Sanchez, Billy Leffler, Mrs. Samuel Sea and Mrs. Lacey and Miss Lucille Ladd.

DR. EVERETT ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

Dr. Marie A. Everett of 153 Santa Anita Court had as dinner guests on Christmas day, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biffeld, Herbert Winter, Mrs. Harriet DeForrest, Mrs. Margaret Pile and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spreck, all of Los Angeles; Mr. James J. McLaughlin and R. W. Buck, local guests. In the evening the party was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henderson of Monrovia, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Eklund and Mr. Harry Doyle of Pasadena. The latter two gentlemen are members of the Pasadena band and presided at the piano. The living room was converted into a dance hall and everybody danced. A chorus of the seven gentlemen guests sang many of the old time songs, with the ladies joining in the chorus.

Influenza Is On Schedule In the Spring

Watch out for an epidemic of influenza and pneumonia during February and March. While you are about it, prepare for a run of measles at the same time.

Dr. Walte M. Dickie, director of the state department of public health at Sacramento is predicting the aforementioned situation, based on a method of figuring epidemics in advance, through study of current data on the subject.

About the only cheer in sight, according to Dr. Dickie, is the fact that outbreaks of "flu" and pneumonia in the spring months are usually not as extensive as those during the fall.

So with this slight consolation—especially to persons who always get what is around, extensive or not—Dr. Dickie plunges into a discussion of what to do when you feel the clutches of one of these respiratory infections, as the profession calls them.

In the first place, and before you feel anything coming on, don't allow your gregarious instincts to dominate—in other words, stay away from crowds. If there is one thing a respiratory germ does enjoy, it is a crowd. He, or she, thrives on them, literally and figuratively.

Then after you have disregarded this advice and find the disease coming on you—go to bed. Not only go to bed, but stay there. When you figure you have had sufficient rest remain in bed for another two or three days and you will probably be ready to get up.

Dr. Dickie advises a physician being called in all cases of influenza and pneumonia. The serious results of these diseases must be viewed with apprehension, he said, and pointed to the 1928 death rate in California of 47.3 per 1,000 for influenza and 96.3 per 1,000 for pneumonia as proof of his contention.

Speaking of measles, Dr. Dickie told how this disease comes in regular cycles and an increasing incidence of the last few weeks proves to him that measles will be right up in front among children during January, February and March. Adults are by no means immune to measles he said.

"This world with all its faults," declared a speaker at Flint, "is a good place to live in, and it is doubtful whether any of us could conceive of a better one." In view of that whole-hearted endorsement, I accept the world, and, as long as possible, will use no other.—Detroit News.

To Safeguard Forest Area Nation's Duty

No Other Country Could Have Withstood Forest Tragedy

Experts Give Cure to Society of American Foresters At Meeting

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Davis Chamber of Commerce, State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson said:

Our chief national concern is to preserve our present prosperity by safeguarding our present strong economic advantage obtained thru development of our natural resources. Our industrial progress has always been the object of aggressive foreign competition, and while we have enjoyed an unprecedented period of industrial prosperity, we must not handicap or impair our industrial structure by illogical and dangerous manipulations of our industrial securities.

No other country in the world could have withstood the financial tragedy which has just occurred without great industrial and financial depression, and no nation could have met the situation with the calm and cool resignation evidenced by the American public. This financial hurricane, which has now spent its fury, should awaken the American public to realize the danger of misappropriating the power of money.

Our financial structure, supporting the development of our natural resources has always been economically sound and carefully calculated to merit public confidence. We must return to safe and practical means, and prevent either by natural policy or law, the ravaging parasite whose gambling instincts and selfish greed will impair if not destroy our industrial credit obligations.

The confidence of the American investor in American industrial securities has had a set back, but has not been destroyed. We are undergoing a period of economic adjustment which will undoubtedly terminate the dangerous operations of professional stock speculators who are responsible, by pool control of stock, for the drastic market upset in values. By this so-called "pool control," the operating speculators create fictitious values of securities and the public is lured into the vortex of speculation in the hope of quick profits. The valuation of American industrial securities is based upon their earnings and any investor should regard them. Industrial securities when purchased, should be bought outright as an investment.

The purchase of securities by margin deposits is a dangerous hazard to the investor, and should be generally discouraged. All securities should be bought with the intention of obtaining possession by full payment of the purchase price.

When American capital, totalling into the billions, is attracted to quick speculation, our industries do not benefit thereby. The buying power of money must have a logical distribution, for in our scheme of economic life, the prosperity of one factor depends more or less upon the other.

THE CURE OF FOREST DEVASTATION

From Report of George P. Ahern and Gifford Pinchot to the Society of American Foresters at Des Moines, Iowa, December 30, 1929.

The forests of America are in greater danger today than ever before in our history. Not one acre out of eight of our original forest remains and the percentage of this remnant devastated each year is greater than ever before.

Forest devastation on privately owned timberlands, where most of the destruction goes on is among the most serious of all dangers to our future prosperity. We cannot get on without wood.

Forest devastation wastes not only wood, but water too. It ravages our watersheds, and in the Northwest squanders the great original forest trees that can never be replaced.

Forest growth is falling steadily farther behind in the race with forest destruction. Ten years ago destruction was four times greater than new growth. Today it is at least six times greater.

Two out of every three of our States already consume more lumber than they produce, and cannot supply the needs of their own people. Because of forest devastation many states must bring their lumber (and pay freight on it) from distances of one to three thousand miles.

Many States import nine-tenths of the lumber they use. Yet our lumbermen are sending out of the country nearly one-tenth of all the lumber they cut.

The South, which can still furnish lumber for other states, apparently will have none left for export within seven years. The Pacific Northwest will last much longer, provided forest fires do not continue to burn up vast quantities of standing timber, as they did in 1910, in 1919, and again last summer.

As reported by the U. S. forest service, the number of forest fires has more than trebled in the last three years, and doubled in the last three. In 1928 there were 177,000 forest fires.

According to the same official figures 34,000,000 acres of forest land were burned over in 1928. In 1920 the acreage burned was only one-tenth as much, in 1922 only one-quarter, and only one-half as recently as 1925.

Every twelve months, what with unregulated cutting and uncontrolled fires, an amount of forest land half as big again as the state of Connecticut is devastated and put completely out of production. More than 100,000,000 acres have been ruined already, and the ruining goes on unchecked.

Outside of the National and State forests and parks our forest situation is highly dangerous. It is getting worse, year by year.

Our National and State forests, containing about one-fifth of our forest lands, and much the less valuable half of our virgin timber, are safe from forest devastation but not yet safe from fire. But most of the best timber had passed into private hands before they were created, and at present they furnish but three per cent of our lumber.

If to this three per cent we add one additional per cent to cover all lumber cut on private lands under any plan of conservative forestry, which is ample, we are forced to the appalling conclusion that 96 percent of all lumber sawed in the United States is cut with no attempt to insure another forest crop.

It is roughly true that where one acre of saw logs is cut conservatively, twenty-four are devastated, or cut without regard to future growth.

The increasing distances over which lumber must be hauled because nearer forests have been destroyed have the actual present money cost of forest devastation certainly to hundreds of millions of dollars every year, and probably to billions. All of which the consumer pays.

When our own supplies are exhausted there is no region on earth that can supply us, even at excessive prices, with the kinds and amounts of wood upon which our national standard of living is based.

The vast quantities of lumber we need in America we must grow or go without. If we go without, every business, every occupation, every family will suffer, for nothing that we use or eat or wear can be produced, or manufactured, or transported without the help of wood.

Lumbermen interested in continuing the profits they make forest devastation have spent great sums in propaganda intended to make people believe that the future of American forests is safe. Many have been deceived, when the fact is that nothing could be farther from the truth.

Most commercial timberland owners who endanger our future by devastating their forests for profit are opposed to stopping it while anything is still left to devastate. For more than thirty years continuous efforts have been made to induce them to cut their timber without injuring the public interest. With a few exceptions, honorable in purpose but negligible in amount they have gone on slashing.

The area of commercial timberlands today under conservative cutting is insignificant. It does not even promise to exercise any influence worth considering on the central forest problem in America, which is to stop forest devastation and keep lands chiefly adapted to forest growth actually growing usable trees.

Many lumbermen, especially on the Pacific Coast, are today in trouble chiefly because they got together, largely by fraud, great holdings of timberland than they can profitably carry under the present conditions of industry and population. The public is now invited to make good their losses which are directly due to improvident greed or actual fraud, or let forest devastation go on until the lumbermen can see a profit in practicing forestry.

This amounts to saying that the profits of the lumbermen are more sacred than the welfare of the people. We assert on the contrary, that the public welfare comes first; that every forester is in duty bound to oppose forest devastation and help to stop it, whether it pays the lumbermen or not; and that the public has no obligation to guarantee the profits of any business, unless that business is a public utility with a limit on profits, and is regulated as such.

A sound foreign policy for the United States must put an end to destructive lumbering on large commercial timberlands. It should not attempt to control cutting on farm woodlots or other small parcels of forest land. This is properly a matter for the individual states.

We protest against further delay, whether by investigation or leadership, is ready to put an end to it.

Regulated lumbering is neither new nor strange. Laws for the public control of cutting on privately owned timberlands are already in successful operation in nearly every civilized nation on earth that is engaged in woods operations on any large scale. Without such laws private forests have never been permanently safe. Such laws also stabilize and protect lumbering as a business. Nearly everywhere the lumbermen who operate under them are their staunch supporters.

The only way to stop forest devastation is to stop it. The longer it goes on the more it does the nation harm. We recommend the prompt passage of a law by congress to prevent commercial timberland owners from injuring the public by forest devastation, and require them to keep their timberland growing wood, unless public authority finds it better adapted to some other useful purpose. This can be done under the Constitution—the Capper bill shows how.

IN RETROSPECT

(Written by Louis Dietz in his 21st year)

As I sit me by my window
On this bright glad new-year day
On this bright, glad new-year day
My thoughts are silently roving,
Far over the past away,
O'er the days that are no longer,
O'er weeks now gone for aye,
O'er months so rapidly passing,
They seem but as yesterday.

I think as I sadly ponder,
On this sunny, new-year morn,
How little I've done for the Master,
In the year that's past and gone.
A vision comes up before me,
And as on it I fix my gaze,
I see but the blotted record
Of the misspent hours and days.

Of a life imperfect—fruitless,—
Of a heart oft led away,—
Of hands lying idly folded,—
Of feet ever going astray;
And as memory turns the pages,
One by one before my sight,
Thick and fast sad recollections
Crowd upon me with their might.

FORGIVE AND FORGET

In the announcement of the revival at the Church of the Brethren, made in The Herald last week, the linotype spoiled a perfectly good compliment by misplacing one letter. The sentence should have read: "He believes in a happy religion and lives it." But the linotype made it "He believe sin a happy religion and lives it." Can an apology ever fix it?—Sabeta (Kan.) Canyon Park Notes

William A. Thomas returned to the canyon on Tuesday after spending two days on the Wilson Trail in the search for the three missing Los Angeles students. He relates an amusing incident of the trip which occurred two miles below the summit on Monday night. Rolling up comfortably under a tree in his blanket, and with his dog "Bruin" at his side, he figured to take a short rest before proceeding further on his journey. The much needed rest was short-lived, however, as Bruin, hearing a sudden sound in the brush became over zealous to carry on. Returning from his expedition, with unmistakable signs of an encounter with a civet cat, he again sought shelter beneath the blanket at Mr. Thomas' side. Needless to say, Mr. Thomas was forced to roll up his blanket and continue on his way.

Residents of Canyon Park and friends extend sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Strickland of Sturtevant Drive, in the loss of Mrs. Strickland's father who passed away last Sunday. Mr. Jones had been a resident here since June.

Miss Annetta Carter has been spending the holiday season with her father, A. N. Carter, at East Alegria Avenue. Miss Carter plans to return to the U. C. at Berkeley, where she is majoring in botany, about January 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roth and young daughter of Maywood, are guests at Rocky Ridge cottage on Woodland Drive for a week.

Mrs. G. W. Dawson of Canada and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ulbrecht of Los Angeles were canyon visitors on New Year's day.

Dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Iffrig on New Year's day were Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Iffrig of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Virgin were dinner guests on New Year's day of Mrs. Virgin's mother, Mrs. Ella A. Cadmus. In the afternoon Mrs. Cadmus motored to Fallbrook with Mr. and Mrs. Virgin where they remained until the following day.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Heywood of Hollywood were week end guests at their cottage, "The Grey Squirrel."

Dr. J. Scott Brown and family of Long Beach, were dinner guests of Mrs. J. C. Patterson of Vista Circle Drive on New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lamb, their daughter Edna, and C. C. Silva of Morro Bay, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Corum. They arrived on Tuesday and plan to remain until the first of next week.

Mrs. Florence Bruce and son Frederick of Long Beach, are spending the winter at the Mercereau apartments on Brookside Lane and Woodland Drive.

William Lunny, engineer at Santa Monica, is spending a few days this week at his home, "Green Bells."

Mr. and Mrs. S. Murray and small daughter Marilyn were New Year's Day dinner guests of Mrs. Murray's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Blazek, of Holly Trail Path.

Mrs. Lillian Isabel Lewis left this morning for Berkeley after spending the holiday vacation at her cottage on Woodland Drive and in Hollywood.

Mrs. C. W. Weaver and her daughter, Miss Etha Weaver, returned to Brawley on Sunday after spending the Christmas vacation at their cottage, "Days Off," on Brookside Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hauk entertained with a New Year's Eve party at their home on Brookside Lane. The evening was spent in bridge and delicious refreshments were served at midnight. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. F. Widdis, Mrs. Frances H. Burton, George Bear and r. Hartzell.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Elverum and daughter, Jean Warner Silliman of Montana are occupying the Mercereau cabin on Brookside Lane for the winter. They have as their guests for two weeks, Mrs. Elverum's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Swan, also of Montana.

News of the Theatres

'Romance of the Rio Grand' Is All Talking Sensation

If sound and dialogue is the answer to the excellence of such pictures as "Romance of the Rio Grande," an all talking Fox Movietone with music, Strand Theatre patrons will cast a unanimous vote for talking entertainment. This, at least, is the conclusion after viewing this Fox production. "Romance of Rio Grande" is a story of the west in pioneer times revolving around the opposing forces seeking to conquer the plains, especially one particular estate below the Rio Grande border. It is an adaptation of Katherine Gerould's stirring novel of the Spanish conquistadors, entitled "Conquistador," and in its conversion to the talking screen, Alfred Santell has done a masterful job in retaining the poignant beauty of locale and pulsating romance which predominates the story. Warner Baxter, a striking personality in romantic roles, and Mary Duncan, raven-haired beauty who has been scoring repeatedly in stellar performances, enact the two principal roles.

'Sweetie to Be' Next Attraction At Fox Florence

Nancy Carroll, Paramount's romantic singing-dancing actress, is coming to the Fox Florence in the big attraction there tomorrow—"Sweetie" in which she plays the title role. "Sweetie" is a play-revue of youth and pep, stage and "prep"—it has been referred to by showmen as the "Good News" of the talking screen. Miss Carroll is the chorus girl performer who falls in love with a prep school boy and later falls heirress to the very school where he is a student. With this combination of school spirit and stage atmosphere background Paramount has superimposed an array of lavish entertainment which will likely break the box office records at the Florence theatre.

There are songs galore, dancing girls and boys by the score in this big extravaganza. Song numbers that all will be whistling are "Sweeter Than Sweet," "He's So Unusual," and "Alma Mammy."

Jack Oakie and Helen Kane are co-stars with Miss Carroll, and add greatly to the charm of the production.

Another Fine Bill Is Scheduled for The Fox-Colorado

"In order to determine the comparative volume of the sound of a human voice when pitted against the roar of an airplane engine, tests were made at the flying field of the California Aerial Transport Co. in Los Angeles, preparatory to making "Flight," the Columbia all-talking aviation special now playing at the Fox Colorado Theatre.

In "Flight" Jack Holt and Ralph Graves are co-starred under the direction of Capra. This same triumvirate made "Submarine," the record-breaking undersea drama. The script of "Flight" called for a number of sequences during which Jack Holt shouts orders to student flyers in training while airplanes are roaring close by. As these orders are also directed at Ralph Graves and are of important dramatic sequence, Capra did not want to take any chances in failing to register Holt's voice.

The motor of the plane was started and speeded up while Holt and Graves walked into camera range, Holt shouting his orders to Graves in the highest pitch. It was feared that the tremendous roar of the airplane motor would drown out Holt's voice. However, the projection of the film after development proved otherwise. Over and above the roar of the motor, Holt's voice could be heard as natural as life. This differentiation of sound marked a forward step in the production of talkies.

On the stage Fanchon and Marco are offering their daring "Manila Bound" Idea, with "Slim Martin and his band."

1930 To Witness Great Development on Part of Company

The Southern California Edison Company budget of new construction expenditures for the year 1930 will total $23,601,058. R. H. Ballard, president of the company made this announcement recently. The construction budget for the coming year is approximately $5,500,000 greater than expenditures for similar purposes in 1929.

"The Edison Company in 1930 will begin the second year of a definite five-year program of intensive development," Mr. Ballard said, "and its expenditures for construction of additional service facilities in the ten counties of Southern and Central California will provide principally for extensions and reinforcements to care for an increase of approximately 15 per cent in the connected load of our consumers. A little over $18,000,000 of the total budget will be required for the new business expenditures in anticipation of connecting up 35,000 new consumers during the coming year with an aggregate connected load of 365,000 horsepower on the consumers' premises."

A total of approximately $10,190,000 has been allocated for extensions and reinforcements for new business in the metropolitan area of Los Angeles alone, Mr. Ballard said. This area includes the industrial districts of Los Angeles where a substantial share of the company's anticipated new business will originate.

Construction of the new general offices of the company at Fifth and Grand Avenue will be completed this year at a cost of $3,575,000 from the new budget. The work on the 13-story, class A structure is now well under way.

The benefits of developments planned for 1930 by the Edison company will be shared by 360 cities and towns in the company's territory of 55,000 square miles, Mr. Ballard said. Large appropriations have been made for extensions and new business reinforcements in each of the company's 31 districts and each district will benefit directly by local expenditures and employment.

Local Equestriennes Help Win Prize In Rose Tournament

The Misses Rosemary Miller and Cora Shattuck, two young Sierra Madre equestriennes, were instrumental no doubt in helping Division "L" win first prize in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Wednesday. These girls were "outriders" in the historical sketch presented by Chic Chevis Riding Academy. They were each dressed in cow-girl costume and rode side-by-side with grace acquired only by long practice at horseback riding.

Kiwanis Club Will Install New Officers

Ray Grant Conducts Final Meeting as Faithful Executive

New officers for 1930 will be formally installed at the regular meeting of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club next Tuesday noon, with Jack Eberle, district lieutenant governor, acting as installing officer.

Those to take office at this time are Charles B. Klunk, president; W. J. Lawless, vice president; Ray A. Grant, district trustee, and H. Clay Reavis, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Grant presided at his final meeting Tuesday of this week, after having given one of the most faithful self-sacrificing terms of office that any Kiwanis Club anywhere could have had. He has also served seven consecutive years as a director of the local Chamber of Commerce and demonstrated beyond argument that he is always to be found in the front ranks of any movement for the public welfare.

The speaker at this week's meeting was McClellan Reed, lecturer and writer, from Pasadena, who has won an enviable reputation as a speaker before service clubs of that city. This was his second appearance before the local Kiwanis Club and his droll southern humor interspersed with sound bits of philosophy was thoroughly enjoyed.

The subject of Mr. Reed's talk was "Personality," and he urged his audience to strive to develop a balanced personality as one of the most powerful assets for both his social and business welfare. He defined personality as "The sum total of all that we inwardly are, as expressed in the terms of the world."

Napoleon he described as the most outstanding personality Europe ever produced, although he was only five feet tall and weighed less than 100 pounds. Contrasted to him in physique was Abraham Lincoln whom Mr. Reed declared was America's eclipsing personality. Roosevelt and Wilson he classified as positive personalities, but of entirely different types. Bryan and McKinley had winning personalities, he said. A number of appropriate, humorous anecdotes were related to bring out his points. In closing, Mr. Reed urged his hearers to "take stock" of themselves at once and set about using that stock to the very best advantage in 1930 by toning down certain prominent phases of our personalities that tend to clash with others and then bring out certain of our other traits that had been neglected.

Large Congregation Appreciates Choir Program Sunday

A large congregation was present at the Congregational Church Sunday night to appreciate the splendid program of Christmas music furnished by the choir of the Pasadena First Congregational Church. There were thirty-five voices in the chorus, led by Mrs. C. A. Wolf.

The soprano solo, "Gesu Bambino," sung by Janet Stevenson Wood of Sierra Madre, was pronounced excellent, the soloist never having been in better voice, it is said. The violin obligato was played by her husband, H. Randolph Wood.

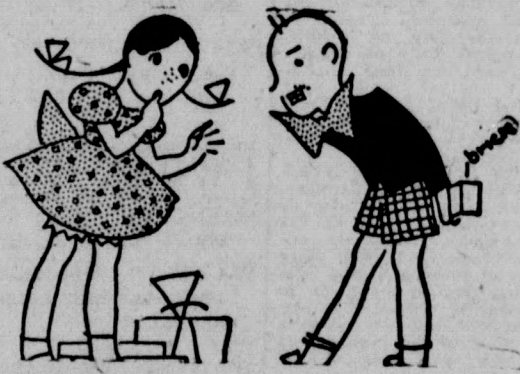

Another outstanding number on the program was "Listen to the Lambs," a fugue movement sung by the chorus without accompaniment. A quartet composed of Mr. Harker, tenor; Mrs. Wood, soprano; Miss Lewis, contralto, and Mr. Estes, bass, gave a delightful rendition of "I Saw Three Ships a-Sailing."

Rev. A. O. Pritchard, pastor of the local church, gave the scripture reading and prayer. The congregation joined with the choir in the processional and recessional.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hull and daughter, Cynthia, and son, Chas., and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Hull spent New Year's Day with Mrs. Blanche Hull McCreery, of Pasadena.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for their kindness to us during the illness and death of our father, James H. Jones. Especially do we thank Dr. Jackson and funeral director, Ray Reynolds for their wonderful services. Also Rev. J. A. Scott for his beautiful words of consolation. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Strickland.

E. L. Sapp, Buick Dealer, Monrovia and Sierra Madre

KNOW WHAT DAY THIS IS, MARTY? SURE, IT'S THE FIRST DAY-OFF OF THE YEAR! NEW YEAR'S DAY! WELL, YOU OUGHT TO MAKE A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION NOT TO BUY SO MANY CARS. WHY, HOW YOU TALK, POLLY ANNE! DON'T YOU WANT ME TO SAVE? CERTAINLY! THAT'S WHY. JUST LIKE A WOMAN! DON'T YOU KNOW THE USED CAR VALUES AT NEXT TIME YOU FALL DOWN IT WON'T BE BECAUSE YOU SLIPPED.

E. L. SAPP BUICK

ARE SO GREAT THAT THE MORE I BUY THE MORE I SAVE?

To start off the New Year on the profit side of the ledger—buy a used car here, and now! We'll make it worth your while to be an arly buyer. We make a special price on a used car each day. Watch our Used-car Lot for your next used car. This week's specials:

1929 Buick Four-door Sedan	$994.99	1926 Overland Coach	274.99
1928 Buick Two-door Sedan	794.99	1921 Buick Four-door Sedan	49.99
1926 Dodge Four-door Sedan			274.99

We've worked so hard to gain a reputation for square-dealing, there is no sale important enough to tempt us to endanger that reputation.
